PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Mr. Cone was born in Larned, Kansas but spent his childhood in New England, principally in Hanover, New Hampshire. He attended Columbia University in New York City, where he also received architectural apprenticeship training from J. Fredrick Larson, a traditional architect of considerable renown. Mr. Cone was a design architect with Mr. Larson's firm in Winston-Salem, N.C. Mr. Cone continued to work for Mr. Larson in several capacities including Architect and Project Manager. Mr. Cone was an associate with Randolph Frantz and Associates, Architects, in Roanoke, Virginia and also a Design and Project Architect with Thompson and Payne, Architects and Engineers, in Roanoke, Virginia. John continued to practice architecture with his own firm and eventually joined the staff of Hayes, Seay, Mattern & Mattern, Architects and Engineers, in Roanoke, Virginia as a staff architect. He is now an associate with HDH Associates, P.C. in Christiansburg, Virginia. Mr. Cone and Thor Inc. were honored with an Award of Merit in the Historic Renovation category by the Mid Atlantic Construction Magazine (McGraw-Hill Publication) for the Giles County Courthouse Renovation project.
